BELLEFONTE RIOTERS REFUSE TO SURRENDER

REBELS SPURN DEMAND, HOLD SIX HOSTAGES

By LEONARD UNGER
Bellefonte, Pa. (P)—Shouting defiance, some 325 rebellious convicts again turned down a surrender ultimatum today in their barricaded cell block at the Rockview State Penitentiary and refused to release six guards held as hostages until their "gripes" are honored.

It was the third day of their surprise insurrection. Last night 100 of Rockview's prisoners capitulated to a demand by Gov. John S. Fine who warned that additional jail sentences would be given to every man who continues to defy authority.

The newest rejection of the state's efforts to bring peace to the prison came in a yelling exchange between Deputy Atty. Gen. Edward Friedman, standing on the ground outside Cellblock A and the barred windows 30 feet above.

Friedman sought to negotiate a surrender of the convict rebels who launched the rioting Monday night. During the course of the rioting hundreds of mattresses have been burned, and plumbing and other fixtures have been ripped off walls and thrown out cell windows.

Friedman said the convicts must first release the hostages and throw out seven guns before a settlement would be discussed.

At the same time, the first direct word came from the hostages who have been held in the barricaded cellblock since the riot broke out. By permission of the convicts, Melvin Williams, one of the guards, came to a window and said:

"Tell them" (the families) "we are well treated. We are okay. No one has forced me to say anything. Come to a decision and give these men a fair hearing."

"You have a chance now for a complete hearing of your gripes. Release those guards and throw out the guns."

"How about our 12 demands," one shouted back, referring to the convicts' complaints, among other things, about prison food and the state's parole system.

Friedman said he couldn't go into that now.

"If you have no authority to answer questions, you have no authority to make a settlement," one of the convicts replied.

Eisenhower Intends To Name Wilson As Member of Cabinet

Washington (P)—The White House said today that President Eisenhower still intends to name Charles E. Wilson to the post of secretary of defense.

But the nomination will not be submitted to the Senate today, James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press chief, told a news conference.

Beyond that, however, Hagerty sidestepped reporters' questions about Eisenhower's intentions regarding the controversial Wilson appointment.

Hagerty said he knows of no change in the President's decision to appoint the former General Motors president to the Cabinet.

Wilson's prospective appointment had been challenged by some Republicans and Democrats who quoted laws saying that no federal official on a contract-making level may hold a financial interest in a company which owns defense contracts.

CONTINUES CONFERENCES
Washington (P)—The White House announced today that President Eisenhower will hold news conferences regularly, probably once a week.

James Hagerty, press secretary, said they would be conducted in the same fashion as were the news conferences in recent Democratic administrations—that is with impromptu questions from the reporters present.

CELEBRATION OF INAUGURAL LONG LASTING

Washington (P)—Happy Republicans wassailed on into the wee hours of today in a last great and gala jubilee marking the inauguration of President Eisenhower.

And Eisenhower and his lady celebrated right along with them.

They didn't hold out until the final curtain at 3 a. m., but departed at 1:18, comparatively the shank of the evening. Long lines of limousines and taxis, stalled in traffic, were still bringing guests when he left.

The new President was in fine fettle, right up to the end. He still looked daisy-fresh, although his day had begun 18 hours earlier and had included the most impressive event any American can experience—being sworn in as president of the United States.

Aides said he planned to begin work at his desk around 8 o'clock.

Thus was a double-jointed jubilee. At opposite ends of Washington two big, bull-chested halls had been given over to the celebration. One was the National Guard Armory, the other the McDonough Auditorium at Georgetown University.

Officially, it was a white-tie and bare-shoulders event, and most of the guests conformed. Tickets were $12 apiece, and you had to know somebody who knew somebody to get them.

It was a brilliantly dressed throng. There were tuxedos and loggiettes, fabulous jewels or some very expert copies thereof, full flaring gowns with trains, and decolletage that defied gravity.

Orchid corsages were as common as dandelions on a summer lawn.

Well before the Presidents first appearance, most of the celebrities were on hand—Cabinet designees John Foster Dulles, Martin P. Durkin, George M. Humphrey, and Wilson, Harold E. Stassen, named to be mutual security director.

Most of the senators and congressmen had taken boxes.

Movie personalities, some of whom had entertained on Monday night, moved around the room gazing at political celebrities pretty much as people usually gape at them. Few people sat still. They moved, endlessly, wheeling round and round the room.

At 10:45, the Marine band in blue-and-scarlet crashed out the opening bars of "Hail to the Chief," the song that announces the arrival of all presidents.

Then, in an upper box, Eisenhower and Mamie and the members of their family filed in. A cheer went up. The President (Turn to Page Twelve)

March of Dimes Is Lagging in County, Zonta Asks Reports

County returns on the 1953 March of Dimes are coming in very slowly, according to officers of Warren Zonta Club, sponsors of the county-wide campaign for the Warren County Chapter and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Total figure turned in so far to Treasurer Ann McGary, at the city building, is $2,181.47, of which $1,043.59 was raised in the Warren borough Tag Days held last week-end and several unspecified sums have been special gifts.

Leaders in the various rural communities holding tag days, collections and other benefits for the March of Dimes, are asked to send their reports to Mrs. McGary as soon as their canvasses or special events have been concluded.

By communities, these workers are: Bear Lake, Mrs. Allene Burlingame; Chanders Valley, Floyd Nobbs; Columbus, Mrs. Betty Damon; Corydon, Women's Auxiliary; Garland, Miss Laura Demming; Grand Valley, Mrs. Martha Averill; Irvine, Miss Helen Driscoll; Irvinedale school, Mrs. Archie Hunter.

Kinzua, Women's Auxiliary; Lottsville, Miss Lois Lillie; Pittsfield, Mrs. Treasa Jones; Scandia, Mrs. Alice Wall; Sheffield, Progressive Women's Club; Spring Creek, Mrs. Lena Reagle; Sugar Grove, Mrs. A. A. Grant; Tidoute, unannounced; Youngsville, Miss Helen Piper.

An Era Ends, Another Begins

President Harry S. Truman, and his successor as the nation's Chief Executive, Dwight D. Eisenhower, wave to crowds on their drive from the White House to the Capitol for Eisenhower's inauguration. The ride for Harry S. Truman marked the end of a 20-year Democrat reign.

Employment Prospects in State Are Reported as Best in History

Heart Attack Fatal To Litner Carlson, Longtime Resident

Litner A. Carlson, who conducted a draying business in Warren for many years and served at one time as a member of the borough school board, died suddenly at 12:55 a. m. today at his home on the Warren-Kinzua road. While he had been ill of a heart ailment some time ago, his condition had improved and was not considered serious. Returning from the movies last night, he decided to prepare a lunch before going to bed and collapsed in the kitchen before help could be summoned.

Mr. Carlson was born at Tidoute on October 16, 1878, the son of Charles and Matilda Erickson Carlson. The family moved to Chanders Valley when he was six months old and remained there until he was 20.

Surviving are his wife, Josephine; two children, Mrs. Harry Summers, Warren, and Bramer Carlson, Cleveland, O.; also four grandchildren; one brother and one sister, E. E. Carlson, Warren, and Mrs. F. G. Schweitzer, Erie.

Services in his memory will be held at the Peterson Funeral Home at 2:00 p. m. Friday, friends to be received there at the usual calling hours, starting at 7:00 p. m. today.

Mr. Carlson was a member of Grace Methodist church and his pastor, Rev. C. W. Baldwin, will conduct the rites, with interment following in Oakland cemetery (Corry and Jamestown papers please copy).

Harrisburg (P)—Employment prospects in Pennsylvania for 1953 are the best in the Commonwealth's history, the Bureau of Employment Security observed today.

"Barring any unforeseen developments it appears that employment should top that of 1951 and remain very high during 1953—at least for the first six months," said A. J. Caruso, executive director of the bureau.

Employment in the state set a new record in 1951.

Caruso based his prediction on employment for the last quarter of 1952 which showed a substantial increase over the same period of 1951. The monthly average for 1952's last three months was 4,307,666 compared with 4,286,333 for 1951.

The 1952 steel strike, however, reduced the 1952 yearly average, Caruso said. He added that without the steel dispute, the past year probably would have topped 1951 for a new record.

"The new industrial expansion throughout Pennsylvania, especially in the southeastern section of the state will have an important effect on state employment," Caruso pointed out.

"Our bureau has estimated that employment would be increased about 20,000 in that area by the opening of new plants and subsidiary employment."

Caruso said that despite the favorable employment picture in the Commonwealth there are still seven areas classed by the federal government as "distressed" sections. They are: Altoona; Pottsville; Clearfield-Dubois; Scranton; Wilkes-Barre-Hazleton; Uniontown-Conneautville; and Sunbury-Shamokin-Mt. Carmel.

The apparel and textile industries have shown considerable improvement, Caruso said, due primarily to increased consumer buying. The anthracite and bituminous coal industries have picked up only a small portion of a total 26,000 workers dropped since 1950.

Committee Meets As Barbershoppers' Benefits Draw Nigh

With the Barbershoppers' benefit concerts, to aid in raising funds for the Boy Scout Council's Jamboree Fund, scheduled for Friday and Saturday in Warren and a week from Saturday in Sheffield, members of the Jamboree Committee held an enthusiastic meeting at Dr. John Thompson's office in Youngsville, Tuesday night.

Plans for the local Council's participation in the annual Jamboree, to be held this year at Santa Ana, Cal., were approved and four veteran Warren county Scouters were named as leaders. Don Lauffer, advisor of Explorer Post 5, Warren Elks' Lodge, as a member of the Sectional Staff, Earl Mohrkern, former Scoutmaster of Troop 2, Grace Methodist church, now an assistant Commissioner Scoutmaster; Lester McCarthur, Scoutmaster of Troop 50, Ludlow, and James Fitzgerald Scoutmaster of Troop 20, Lottsville, assistant Scoutmasters.

The fee, as approved by the committee, is $300 per Scout. Twenty Scouts already have registered by paying the $25 registration fee. James Blomquist, of North Warren, committee chairman, emphasized that there are but 15 vacancies remaining, with March 1 as final deadline.

It was reported by Scout Executive Rut Sanford that tentative railroad arrangements include stopovers in Chicago, Kansas City and the Grand Canyon on the way out, Colorado Springs, Denver and Salt Lake City en route home.

Chifford Betts, who is so ably handling the finances, reported that tickets were going well for the Barbershoppers' Nights of Harmony scheduled this Friday and Saturday in Warren High (Turn to Page Twelve)

ORGANIZATION IS PERFECTED IN NORTH TIER

Holding its jointure-organization meeting on the night of Dwight D. Eisenhower's inauguration as the 34th president of the United States, the new board representing school districts of the county's northern tier is probably the first in the nation to select his name for a new high school.

Comprising Sugar Grove borough and the townships of Sugar Grove, Farmington and Pine Grove, the new jointure group will be known as the Northern Area Joint School System, with The General Eisenhower School designated as the title of the high school building it is proposed to erect at a later date.

Travers Stohlberg, well known Sugar Grove figure and president of the Sugar Grove-Farmington joint school board, conducted the organization meeting last night and was chosen to head the new combined board.

Others chosen as officers, to serve with Mr. Stohlberg, are the vice president, Dave Smith, Russell, and secretary, Mrs. Hazel Kays, Lander; with the Warren Bank and Trust Company as treasurer; John Stewart, board attorney.

Articles of agreement were signed and other routine business of the jointure transacted.

Everett Landin, principal of the Sugar Grove-Farmington Joint High School, presented his report on enrollment figures, showing pre-school total of 590, including Farmington and Sugar Grove townships; elementary grades, 546; grades seven to 12, 275, including Freehold, which will return to the Youngsville jointure next year. Also included in his report was the fact that Pine Grove sends 78 students in the 9 to 12 grades to Warren schools.

Mr. Landin and Attorney Stewart were chosen as a delegation to go to Harrisburg to place the new jointure data before the proper authorities in the Department of Public Instruction.

After considerable discussion, it was decided a committee will be named later to recommend possible school sites for consideration of the joint board.

At the close of the business session, Farmington board members served refreshments to the group.

Grand Jury's Probe Of Pittsburgh Riot Is Demanded Today

Pittsburgh (P)—Western State Penitentiary, where peaceful prisoners banded themselves today repairing the damage they did, faces a grand jury investigation.

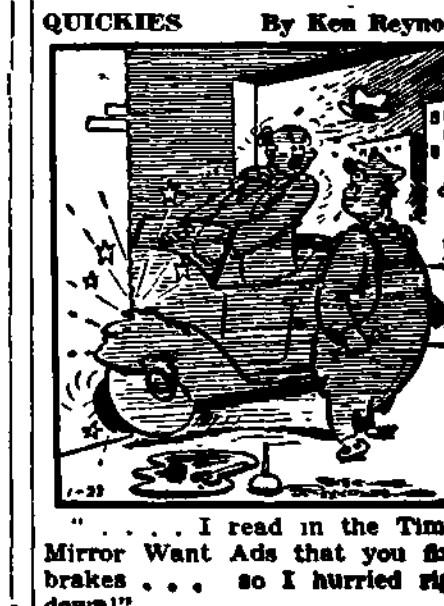

Dist. Atty. James F. Malone of Allegheny County said yesterday he will ask Judge Sara M. Soffel to recall the January grand jury Monday to probe conditions which led to the revolt of 1,000 convicts Sunday.

Estimating the 24-hour riot will cost taxpayers "several hundred thousand dollars," Malone declared:

"The investigating will inquire not only into complaints of the prisoners, but also into the operation of the prison itself."

He added the grand jury will attempt to learn which convicts, if any, instigated the riot. Malone said they can be prosecuted for arson and malicious mischief.

William C. Brown, secretary of the State Department of Welfare, says his office also will investigate the uprising.

Washington (P)—One of the marchers in the Inaugural Parade yesterday is a spry 93.

He is J. Henry Geer, only living charter member of the Beaver County, Pa., Lincoln Republican Club. He stepped out in the club uniform including high silk hat and red, white and blue umbrella.

Moon Eclipse Will Be Visible Jan. 29

Pittsburgh (P)—Residents of the Tri-State area on Jan. 29 will see the first total eclipse of the moon visible in this part of the world since 1950.

Buhl Planetarium officials said today the full moon will rise a few minutes before sunset but the eclipse will not be clearly visible until the sky darkens.

Wade's Docket For Two Counties Clear

With the January terms of divorce, argument and quarter sessions court impending, and to be held next week, court records indicate that the 1952 docket in Warren and Forest counties is entirely clear.

Judge Allison D. Wade, president judge of the 37th Pennsylvania Judicial District, has rendered opinions or decisions in all cases brought before him during the past year, and there is no court business hanging over into 1953.

It is quite probable that the local judicial district is one of very few in the entire United States which can point to that record.

Russell Lieutenant In Inaugural Parade

Russell relatives of 2nd Lt. Wallace F. Briggs interestedly watched the 82nd Airborne Division as it moved along Pennsylvania avenue, Washington, during Tuesday's inaugural parade, Lt. Briggs being one of the marchers. His Division stopped in Washington en route to Old Forge, in the Adirondack Mountains, where there is sufficient snow for winter maneuvers.

Lt. Briggs, son of the late Frank and Lula (Baker) Briggs, is the grandson of Mrs. Stella Briggs, Russell. He is a Warren High graduate in the class of 1946.

ASKS PENALTY FOR ILLEGAL KILL BE $200

Considerable controversy among hunters is taking place relative to future big game seasons in this area. Pursuant to this question, at its January meeting, the Brokenstraw Fish and Game Club, of Youngsville, has gone on record as to what it favors by adopting a series of resolutions. Gurney Ball, president, and S. P. Sage, secretary, have submitted a copy of the resolutions approved by the group for publication. They are as follows:

1. That the Game Commission set a buck deer season for 1953 of one week duration only.
2. That the Game Commission do not set a doe deer season for 1953.
3. That the Game Commission in the event of ordering a buck and doe deer season, require but one license to cover both buck and doe seasons and be legal for one week only in duration. Further, that the hunter after killing one buck or doe deer, be required to leave the field and thereafter be not permitted to hunt for the remainder of the season.
4. To have the Game Commission raise the penalty for illegal kills to $200.00 and loss of license for a period of three years upon conviction. Should an illegal kill be made and reported to the proper officers, then the penalty to be $50.00 and the license be not revoked.
5. To have the Game Commission raise the bounty on foxes from $4.00 to $5.00 to encourage the kill and reduce the damage.

Rio Grande Scoring Ace Stalls; Police Quell the Rioters

Troy, O., (AP)—Some 7,000 basketball fans calmed down today after creating a near-riot last night in protest of stalling tactics against the nation's leading scorer, Clarence (Bevo) Francis, and his Rio Grande, O., College teammates. A group stormed the box office demanding refund, but police broke up the disorder.

Coach Floyd Rees, Cedarville, O., College cage mentor, has ordered his boys to use "possession ball" strategy.

"Whether the fans like it or not, I'm going to do that because it is our only chance to win," he said.

The fans didn't like it and the change didn't work as Rio Grande easily downed Cedarville, 66-29.

Bevo, held to 11 points in the first half, hit for a game total of 38 markers, below his 50 point average. He now has 1,146 points for 23 games, including the national record of 116 points scored in a single tilt.

Cedarville made action so dull that Bevo signed autographs during the game and conversed with fans.

The crowd jeered, cat-called and threw coins and papers onto the playing floor.

Thousands Gather at Station, Cheer Truman As He Departs

Harry Claims He'll Live To Be a Hundred

En Route to Independence, Mo., With Truman (AP)—Harry S. Truman, ex-President of the United States, took the long trip home today. After nearly eight years as the head of a great government, he headed for Missouri in the role of "Mr. Truman, private citizen."

And alone with Mrs. Truman in the splendor of the private railroad car in which he had stormed the country in many a fiery campaign trip, he had opportunity to reflect again upon an eventful career and take thought of the future.

For Harry Truman, despite his 68 years, has made clear that he will be a man to reckon with in the years ahead. His emotions were stirred, as they have seldom been stirred before, by the sendoff he got at Washington last night at the end of a trying day in which he surrendered the presidency to Dwight D. Eisenhower

Hundreds of cheering Democratic followers thronged around the rear platform of the presidential car which Eisenhower had placed at his predecessor's disposal. District of Columbia Commissioner F. Joseph Donahue described Truman as "the greatest friend" of "little people all over the world."

An obvious lump in his throat the gray-haired Truman, his wife and daughter by his side, responded that "in all my career, and it has been a long one, I've never had an experience like this."

"This is the first time I've had the experience of being sent home in a blaze of glory," he went on. "I'll never forget this if I live to be a hundred — and that's what I expect to do."

For more than 30 minutes, people climbed aboard the car to pump his hand, tell him goodbye and wish him luck and predict that the Democrats again will be restored to power.

Democratic senators, the outgoing Cabinet, government workers and all sorts of people passed through the receiving line in such numbers that the Baltimore & Ohio's National Limited pulled out of Union Station seven minutes late.

Weaker Brodie Twin Is Dead, Rodney Better

Chicago (AP)—Tiny Roger Lee Brodie, Siamese twin who for 34 days amazed the medical world by surviving a head-to-head surgical separation, died last night.

The 16-month-old boy had been in a deep coma since the history-making operation Dec. 17. His brain circulation was impaired and his condition had been listed "every precarious" since the separation from his brother Rodney Dee.

Attending physicians had expressed amazement that he survived the 1 hour and 40 minute operation.

The surgery on the twins, who were born joined at the top of their heads, was the first time in medical history the patients had survived such an operation.

Rodney, since the separation, has undergone two plastic procedures to put skin over his brain. He has shown some signs he is on the road to recovery. However, he must undergo further surgery and his condition still is regarded as critical.

It was during the twins' separation that surgeons discovered there was only one superior sagittal sinus draining blood back from both brains. Because Rodney was holding up much better during the marathon operation and surgery in his favor could be more easily performed, he was favored for "survival of the fittest" by the surgeons. They gave the sagittal sinus and most of the brain covering to Rodney and took the bigger chance on Roger's survival.

Parents of the twins, Mr. and Mrs. Royt Brodie, were informed of Roger's death late last night through a relative as they have no telephone in their farm home near Moline, Ill.

THE NEW COMMANDING OFFICER

President Eisenhower may look back upon his life until 12:32 p. m. Tuesday as almost carefree when compared with what lies ahead.

His whole life had been a preparation for military eminence. He attained it. If he had retired from public life when he retired from military life his place in history would be unquestioned.

It would have been military history, of course. Any fault found with him in that field, such as in tactics or strategy, would have been only a minor footnote in the fat volume of his achievements.

His was military success on the grand scale. But the affection he won from a grateful nation was for more than just his victories in battle.

In his appearance he represented the military side of democracy at its best: He was a warm, smiling man. On the most solemn occasion he seemed as friendly and familiar as the man next door.

But by the very nature of his military life; and of the position of a military man in a republic, there was always someone above him to give final approval, or the final order, for a decision he made.

When he was a lieutenant, it was the captain; when he was a general or chief of staff, it was the President. Someone until now always stood between him and the final critical judgment of history on whatever he did.

That is no longer true. After 12:32 yesterday, as new head of the government, he became responsible for leadership in problems greater than any he ever knew as head of armies, great as they were.

With the presidency he assumes leadership for roughly half the people on earth because this country has undertaken leadership for that part of mankind which lies outside communism.

President Truman laid the groundwork for that leadership. But it was only a beginning. It will be up to Eisenhower to use what has already been done and improve upon it.

These next four years may be the turning point, one way or the other, in the struggle with communism. So the future of mankind may depend upon his ability, his vision and his decisions.

He didn't have to take the presidency. He could have stopped where he was, knowing history would always deal with him most kindly. He cannot now be sure of that in his new assignment.

If he succeeds, he will have an even more honored place in history. If he fails? Only time could measure the degree and the consequences of his failure.

It speaks well for his confidence in himself, and the confidence of his countrymen in him, that here, almost at the beginning of old age, he is willing to undertake what is, in effect, a new life.

BEN'S STOVE
The New York Times

It must have been about this time of year that Benjamin Franklin first had his idea for a stove. He was about to begin his thirty-eighth year, an age when a man would have had enough of chill and scorch from a fireplace. Ingenious as he was, he knew that a fire in an iron box open to the room on all sides would radiate much more heat than a fire in a wall. He may even have known that such fireboxes, or stoves were used in Alsace back in the fifteenth century, then forgotten. At any rate, in the year 1744 Benjamin Franklin had an iron founder cast the plates for a stove of his own design. Thus was the Franklin stove born.

It wasn't elaborate. It was essentially a free-standing fireplace, a cast-iron, open-front box in which wood was burned. The fire heated the iron box and the iron box heated the room, its smoke drawn off by a pipe or flue. It still had the cheer of an open fire. But in it was the germ idea for all the stoves and most of the furnaces that have followed it.

Unlike so many early inventions, the Franklin stove persists even today. It is an antique and in many places a rarity, but not many of those fortunate few who have one would willingly be rid of it. Anachronism that it is—and somehow it seems even more out of date than a fireplace—it has an honored place in many a New England country living room. Men love it, particularly in January. Dogs bask in its gentle glow. And wherever you find one, there is the spirit of Old Ben, his back to its open glow, beaming, satisfied, content that his firebox was as important, in its way, as his kite.

Salesgirl With Smile Is Asset To Department Store Business

New York (AP)—A retailers' convention here was told that the independently-operated neighborhood department store and the salesgirl with a smile will more than hold their own this year against chain store and self-service competition.

Speakers at the 42nd annual convention of the National Retail Dry Goods Association emphasized, some of the independents may have to modernize their thinking.

Max Hess, president of Hess Brothers, Allentown, Pa., told the meeting that independents generally can look for an increase of five to 10 per cent in sales in 1953—provided they adopt alert, aggressive merchandising techniques and spend more money on newspaper advertising.

Hess suggested that independent retailers hike their newspaper advertising budgets by 10 to 15 per cent. A good part of this extra money, he said, would be used for promoting business on slack days.

Philip Le Boutillier, president of Best and Co., called night openings a "reversion to the dark ages of retailing." Night hours increase costs out of proportion to added sales, he said, and employees don't like to work nights. He described the trend toward night shopping as a "panicky" move on the part of "department store tycoons, some of whom never wrapped a bundle or stood behind a counter."

E. B. Weiss, director of merchandising for Grey Advertising Agency, Inc., called Le Boutillier's stand "mid-victorian." The public wants night shopping, he said, and I think it is time even for Best and Co., to comprehend that the old order changeth.

Gross private domestic investment in the United States increased 490 per cent from 1939 to 1951.

About 3 1/2 million tons of lignite was produced in the United States in 1951.

GOP Feared Inaugural Ledger Would Be Written in Red Ink

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—First test the Republicans have in showing that they know how to run things and balance budgets comes in the inauguration itself. In the week before 1-day—now known as Ike-day—there was considerable fear that the big show would go in the red.

This was in spite of the fact that the GOP $800,000 inaugural budget is $100,000 larger than the Democratic inaugural budget of four years ago. The Democrats showed a $10,000 profit on their festivities. But higher lumber costs—due to Democratic inflation, of course—plus more elaborate GOP decorations may cut Republican profits.

When two inaugural balls were announced, everyone asked for tickets at the National Guard Armory, assuming that would be the better show because it's bigger than the Georgetown University gym. But when the word got around that there was a law against drinking hard liquor in the armory, the ticket demand suddenly switched to the Georgetown affair.

ONE of ex-New York Mayor William O'Dwyer's last acts before resigning as U. S. ambassador to Mexico was to send through a requisition for one of the largest liquor orders ever received from an American embassy.

It is customary for all U. S. embassies to order liquor through Washington, to get it tax free. The order is then okayed by the foreign office of the country to which it goes, and is imported duty free.

Purchases in the U. S. are handled by the Welfare and Commissary unit of the Foreign Service. This is a kind of independent organization, run outside the State Department.

EVERY government agency in Washington is filled with rumors about what its new boss is going to do when the Eisenhower administration comes to town. The rumor bothering Federal Security Agency at the moment is that the beauteous new administrator, Oveta Culp Hobby, of Houston, Tex., who is 48, will bring her 75-year-old husband to Washington with her to handle public relations for FSA.

DESIGN and construction of a new U. S. fleet of high-speed tankers was revealed by President Truman's budget request for an initial 11-million-dollar appropriation to start work on the prototype.

Preliminary plans of the Federal Maritime Board call for a 600-foot hull built along the lines of the present Mariner fleet of high-speed cargo vessels which were built to replace the Liberty and Victory ships of World War II. The new tankers would have 20,000 deadweight tons and a 20-knot speed.

The standard T-2 type tankers built during World War II were 15,000-ton vessels of 15-knot speed. These ships are now 10 years old and have seen more than half their useful life. Also, all these ships are now in service and there is no reserve tanker fleet.

WHEN the new Secretary of the Treasury, George M. Humphrey, first came to Washington to learn about his job, he kept reporters waiting until 1:30 p. m. before he would see them. Then he granted them half an hour, of which seven minutes were taken up by newscasters and cameramen, and another seven minutes by radio and TV recordings. Newspapers didn't get much out of him.

When Mr. Humphrey came back for his second visit, reporters were again kept waiting all morning. Then word was sent to them that the new secretary wouldn't see them because he didn't want to go through another performance like his first.

The Price of Treason

How Julius and Ethel Rosenberg Carved Infamous Niche in History

By WARD GANNEL
NEA Staff Correspondent

New York — (NEA) — "Plain, deliberate, contemplated murder," the judge began, "is dwarfed in magnitude by comparison with the crime you have committed."

So declared Federal Judge Irving Kaufman on April 5, 1951. He made it quite clear to spectacled, moustached Julius Rosenberg and his thin-lipped wife, Ethel, that there was no reason for mercy.

The sentence of the court was death. And for their crime of treason against the United States—stealing atomic secrets for Russia—the Rosenbergs were doomed to the electric chair.

Their doom was upheld by the Court of Appeals. And the Supreme Court, not once, but twice, refused to intervene in the decision.

Never before had any American court handed down a death penalty in peacetime for wartime espionage. Nor had any American civil court ever—in peace or war—handed down a death judgment against spies. Even in dooming Ethel Rosenberg, American justice was breaking a 90-year-old precedent of sparing women spies.

From the beginning, the case—

like the judgment—was enormous in its reach.

There was, first, the complication of time. The Grand Jury's indictment charged the Rosenbergs with giving atomic secrets to the Russians between 1944 and 1946. And though the crime was committed when Russia had been an American ally, by trial time the two nations were antagonists.

The case was further involved by the national boundaries it crossed. Strands of the gigantic espionage web were anchored in Los Alamos, Canada, New York, London, Mexico City, Albuquerque, and Moscow.

The net also involved important names: physicists Allan Nunn May and Klaus Fuchs, a member of the British Atomic Energy Mission. And such unlikely names as "Dave from Pittsburgh" and "The Lone Ranger."

The name of Rosenberg did not appear until long after the Russians exploded their atomic bomb in September, 1949. Even then atomic experts were wondering why the Reds had waited so long.

A year earlier it had become apparent that "the world's best kept secret" had been exposed. The Kremlin knew more about atomic energy than all but a handful of men among the democracies.

The FBI was called in to trace what looked like espionage. They constructed a mythical spy. He was high up in the atomic bomb organization. He had access to American and British information. He was a scientist.

The trail led to London. And within months they had nailed

Dr. Klaus Fuchs. Gnawed by conscience, he confessed quickly. But he had been merely an idealist serving a cause. He knew no names. Not even that of his colleague, Allan Nunn May, who had been sharing secrets with the Reds, too.

But Fuchs could identify the courier who had picked up the information. Not the fellow's name, but enough to make it easy for the FBI in New York to arrest Harry Gold.

Under aliases and with plenty of Russian-supplied money, Gold had been liaison man for the Kremlin. He had worked with Anatoli Yakovlev, Soviet vice-consul in New York, in front of statues, at busy intersections. Gold passed on his information and received orders.

In his confession, Gold named Fuchs, May, Yakovlev. He also named a former U. S. Army sergeant, David Greenglass. And Greenglass' brother-in-law, Julius Rosenberg.

"Fantastic," said Rosenberg at his arraignment. "It's something like kids hear on the Lone Ranger."

"Who knows," said Federal Judge Irving Kaufman in pronouncing the death sentence on Ethel and Julius Rosenberg, "who knows but that millions of innocent people may pay the price of your treason."

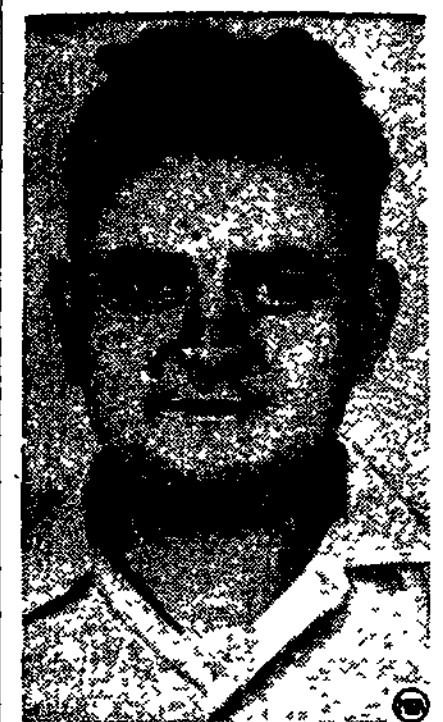

The judge was quite certain that the silent couple standing before him had already contributed heavily to the Communist aggression in Korea. And for their part in a world-wide spying that had given the A-bomb to the Russians, the Rosenbergs were sentenced to the electric chair.

The huge spy-nest had already been burned out. Spy-master Yakovlev had fled to Moscow. British physicist Fuchs had confessed. Canadian atom scientist May had confessed. So had spy-courier Harry Gold, who named the Rosenbergs in the plot.

Said the Rosenbergs: "We cannot reassert often or emphatically enough our complete innocence."

Thus much of the Rosenberg story came from Ethel's brother, David Greenglass, who played a strong supporting role. His reward for state's evidence was a light sentence of 15 years.

An Army sergeant and expert machinist, Greenglass had been assigned in 1944 to a lathe in a new, restricted factory outside Albuquerque, N. M. Neither he nor the other 200,000 workers at Los Alamos knew what it was all about.

DAVID GREENGLASS: For state's evidence, a light sentence.

SPLITTING THE ATOM SPIES: A wire screen separates Julius Rosenberg and his wife, Ethel, as they ride away from Federal Court in a prison van after being found guilty in March, 1951.

His wife, Ruth, told him. She had learned from their brother-in-law, Julius Rosenberg, that an atomic bomb was under construction. She also told David that Julius was now doing what he'd always wanted to do—giving information to the Russians.

Julius and Ethel had broken their connections with the Communist Party, had stopped reading the Daily Worker, had stayed away from party meetings. The business of espionage called for people above suspicion.

It had been luck for Julius to find his wife's brother in a key position. For years he had curried Greenglass with presents and party literature, until he could call the younger man his protégé.

Now it was time for David Greenglass to contribute to Russia. Greenglass searched his soul that night, and the following morning he answered the questions Julius had sent with Ruth. How many employed at Los Alamos? How many buildings? What big names?

Ruth went home with the memorized information. And two months later her husband came to New York on furlough with more information. At the Rosenbergs' Monroe Street apartment on the fringe of Greenwich Village, he dictated facts and figures to Ethel. And from memory he drew the plans for the top-secret lens that had been designed to detonate the A-bomb.

Now Julius had a new plan. He cut a boxtop in half, giving one part to Greenglass. The matching half, he said, would identify the courier who would come to Los Alamos for information.

In June of 1945, a stranger with half of a boxtop called on the Greenglasses in their Albuquerque apartment. He was, he said, "Dave from Pittsburgh"—in court he signed his name, "Harry Gold."

In return for Greenglass' sketches and data, he turned over an unexpected gift of $500. Ruth Greenglass put that money in a bank—except for $37.50 with which she bought a U. S. War Bond.

As soon as David Greenglass was honorably discharged from the Army, he lost his value as an informant. But by then the Rosenbergs were busy with other new sources. And the two couples confined their cooperation to a family machine shop that never made much money.

The espionage business did not come between them until the FBI moved in on Klaus Fuchs. His confession in London threw the Rosenbergs into desperation.

Quickly, Julius made intricate plans to get the Greenglasses out of the country. He gave them $5000 and planned their journey by the underground Red railroad to Mexico and Switzerland.

In spite of Fuchs' confession and Harry Gold's arrest, the Greenglasses expected the scare to blow over. But neither Julius nor Ethel Rosenberg was surprised on July 17, 1950, when the FBI knocked on their door.

The big surprise must have been in Judge Kaufman's death sentence—a sentence as historic as the espionage for which it was handed down by the court.

Removal of Pennsy Local Inconveniences Residents of Corydon

Corydon — The Pennsylvania Railroad local, transporting freight and express to community stops along the Olean-Oil City Division, was removed recently, much to the inconvenience of many local persons and others who enjoyed the convenience of shipments via the river route. The removal of the train is the first in local division history. Less than one year ago, the railroad completely remodeled the Corydon depot, a local landmark, then placed a smaller structure in shipshape condition for the housing of shipments to this community.

Mrs. Garth Stoltz entertained members of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Nazarene church. The hostess served a chicken dinner, with the group spending the afternoon sewing.

Those attending the affair were Rev. Viola Doverspike, Mrs. Edie Stoltz, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Jarrett, Mrs. Nora Crooks, Mrs. C. A. Benton, Mrs. Olive Fair, Miss Lena Schuler, Mrs. Margaret Ruth, Mrs. Gertha Crooks and Mrs. Helen Stoltz.

PROMISE OF DELIGHT

By Mary Howard

AS HENRIETTA

Chapter 27.
AS Anthea moved forward, explaining in her pretty cool voice that Miss Scarpi had been working all day and really was very tired, gathering the little group of would-be fans and shushing them gently away, Gina turned round to the waiter and said, "Bring me a gin and seitzer. Will you, bud? With plenty of gin and plenty of ice."

Anthea glanced about instinctively, looking for Joe to help her, but he was talking to his father, away on the far side of the quay with Mac, one of the camera-men. She went, slowly back to the café to collect her bag, notebooks, continuity book and sunglasses, thinking there was a lot in what Joe had said, and wondering how she could suggest that it was a little early in the evening to start on gun, without bringing about either sulks or tears or a tirade of abuse from Gina.

The striped awning of the café extended in side pieces, giving a certain amount of privacy in the small space hedged in with the camera-men. She went, slowly back to the café to collect her bag, notebooks, continuity book and sunglasses, thinking there was a lot in what Joe had said, and wondering how she could suggest that it was a little early in the evening to start on gun, without bringing about either sulks or tears or a tirade of abuse from Gina.

"You're not going out with Pierre Dulac, or with Mac," he said. "And you say you don't want to see Donati. But you're going out. I know you're going out. Cannes tonight with Joe. It's what you've been angling for, isn't it? I know you're crazy about him. You've managed to ditch Anthea. And now you want to ditch me. All right, go. There's nothing I can do about it."

As Anthea came round the corner of the awning, he banged some money down on the table, and strode off to his hotel. Gina panted and stretched and smiled. "He's awful mad at me," she said sweetly, "just because Joe's taking me dancing tonight. But I've just got to go out somewhere. After working so hard all day, and Joe promised he wouldn't let Larry Donati find me alone."

Anthea gathered up her things. She said jerkily, "I haven't noticed any other man has that effect on you . . . in fact quite the reverse. It's usually the men who are scared of you. What is it about Mr. Donati that is so terrifying?"

Gina blinked, green-eyed, golden-haired, golden-skinned. She had never looked younger, lovelier or more innocent. She said reproachfully, "Are you being a bit mean to me, Anthea?"

"Yes," said Anthea point-blank, rather surprising herself. "I am. And with reason. You've not concealed your feelings for Joe. Why should I? I'm asking you, what about Mr. Donati?"

"Well," said Gina slowly, and the sleepy eyes were suddenly dark with fear, "he might kill me."

BIANCA had telephoned Marian, when she discovered that Marian was dining alone. She did not know that Anthea would be back at eight to go through his correspondence, take down his letters, and transcribe and read back the day's notes to him. If she had it would have made no difference. Where money was concerned, Bianca was like her daughter. She had taken Marian's coffee, when she was willing to pay for her silence, and now she was not paying any longer, she was quite happy to take tips.

Bianca knew how to deal with women. She thought Marian was wasting her time. The situation was not really know why she had come. She only knew that all her life she had carried this thing in her heart, this obsession, this might-have-been of love and life and young romance, and she must see him again, and talk to him.

Bianca met her at the gate, and put her hand out, rubbing her horny brown fingers together in the old familiar way. It brought a queer feeling to Marian's heart—remembering Bianca years ago, standing at another gate, holding out her hands and fingers with the self-same gesture. And as she gave her the note, and Bianca pushed open the gate for her to pass through, she smiled, not grudgingly, because it brought the past back so sharply.

Marian walked slowly up to the deserted house, a pretty little house, with the vines and bouganvillea growing about its balconies. There were chairs on the terrace, and tables, and a long hammock seat, and a long table with a coffee tray and cups, and on the hammock seat, fast asleep, lay Mario Carloti. He had done a heavy day's work in the heat, and he had just had his first meal, and a very good one. His big, heavy body was as relaxed as a child's.

Marian felt suddenly very foolish. What should she do? Prod him in the ribs, and announce to him that she had loved him hopelessly for twenty-five years? She stood uncertainly, and turned on her heel to go, but her sharp movement knocked one of the light metal-framed chairs clattering against another, and Mario awoke with a start, and struggled to a sitting position, the ginger cat departing with an indignant squawk toward the house.

Mario sat up, and blinked at the tall woman in the smart white linen suit and white shoes. If there was anything familiar about that straight yet lissome figure, or the coronet of white hair coiled round her head, he did not call it to mind. He had been asleep, and felt that was rather rude, so he rose to his feet, smiling his heart-warming smile, and she came back slowly toward him.

"Signora, I apologize. Mario laid his hands on his chest. 'I am Mario Carloti. That you must know, as you have come to see me. But there, signora, you have the advantage of me, because I am quite sure I have never seen you in my life before. If I did, I should have remembered.'"

Mrs. Francis Joseph Benbenek

A double ring ceremony performed in St. Joseph's church January 17, by Father Alfred Bauer, united in marriage Angelina Frances, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Mancuso, 106 South Pine street, and Sgt. Francis Joseph, son of Mrs. Frances Benbenek and the late Frank J. Benbenek, 929 Stone avenue.

Mary Rock Scalise sang "Mother, At Your Feet Is Kneeling," "Ave Maria" and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother," with Organist Kathleen Edinger playing her accompaniment.

The bride's gown of white satin featured a bodice of nylon net and lace, with rhinestones imbedded in the yoke, and long, tapering sleeves. Matching lace was used in tiers on the bottom of the gown and to edge the train. Her fingertip veil fell from a cap of lace and rhinestones, and calla lilies fashioned her arm bouquet. Attendants were Betty Ann Lucia, cousin of the bride and maid of honor; Helen Kane, bridesmaid, and Mary Margaret Marzo, niece of the bride, as flower girl. Miss Lucia wore dark rose velvet and nylon net, with matching headpiece and carried a colonial bouquet of blue carnations; Miss Kane's outfit was of royal blue and her flowers were yellow carnations; while Miss Marzo was in yellow velvet and nylon net over taffeta. Assorted flowers were used for her bouquet.

Nick Pirillo served Sgt. Benbenek as best man; ushers were Paul Sullivan and John Bevevino.

Mrs. Mancuso was attired in a navy crepe with matching accessories and Mrs. Benbenek chose rose taffeta, with black velvet trim and accessories. Each had a corsage of red roses.

The wedding dinner was served at the Carver Hotel, with the reception for 150 guests at the Mancuso home. Sisters of the bride, Mrs. Josephine Marzo and Mrs. Rose Raffaele, served. Out of town guests were from Jamestown, Coudersport and Kane.

For going away, the bride chose a suit of black and orchid wool tweed, black accessories and an orchid.

Following the honeymoon, the couple will reside at Fort Campbell, Ky. Both Sgt. and Mrs. Benbenek are graduates of Warren High, the bride having been employed as office clerk at the Pennsylvania Furnace and Iron Company. The bridegroom is a paratrooper at Fort Campbell.

Nuclear Science Lecture

D. Lee Chesnut, manager of apparatus educational sales for General Electric, Schenectady, N. Y., will be presented at First Baptist church at 7:45 p. m. Thursday as part of the Christian Laymen's Crusade. Giving an illustrated lecture on "Nuclear Science" in Laymen's language, he emphasized the point that he is an engineer and business man, not a scientist.

Mr. Chesnut was graduated in electrical engineering from Iowa State College in 1929 and has been with GE continuously since, serving in various engineering and commercial capacities. During the war, he was with the electronics department of the company, in charge of its relations with the Army ground and armored forces in connection with radio-communication equipment. It was during this period that his desire to learn more about the basic fundamentals of the electronic industry led him into an intensive study of the modern conception of the atom and nuclear energy.

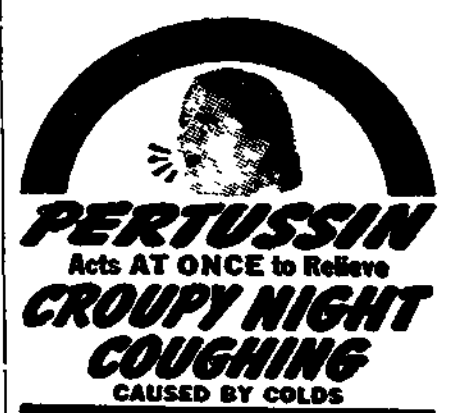

He has been in his present position since the war, the work affording him opportunity to maintain a close interest in the development of today's tools for atomic research. He is a member of the American Scientific Affiliation, American Society for Engineering Education, and the National Association of Evangelicals.

Washington Is 'Slice Out of America'; Cymbals Clash and New President Says a Prayer

Washington (AP)—It was a symbol and a clashing of cymbals. It was an extravaganza and a prayer.

It was part Mardi Gras, part Saturday night at the country club, part old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration, part a simple appeal for divine blessing.

It was a little bit of everything that's America—a husbandly peck on the cheek for Mamie Eisenhower, a cowboy's lasso flipped around her soldier-President, a saucy display of bare-limbed high school cuties, a doleful chorus of "Auld Lang Syne" for a man going home to Missouri.

All this and much more—that was Washington on "I-Day."

The "I" stands for both "inauguration" and for "Ike."

It had its solemn moments. Dwight Eisenhower saw to that. He broke precedent by opening his inaugural address with a prayer, one he'd composed himself in the silence of the awesome morning before his formal elevation to the highest office in the land.

Then—

The Inaugural Parade. Blaring bands, whooping Indians, prancing drum majorettes, glittering floats, West Point cadets and Annapolis midshipmen marching with machine precision.

Silence Is Not Golden If Ladies Berate Selves

ALWAYS argue with a woman when: She says feebly that she really shouldn't order dessert, or isn't sure that her new hat is really becoming. When she says she really should lose a little weight and protests that her apple pie isn't as good as it should be. She says she knows you have lots to do and she doesn't want to bother you. Or if she insists she looks simply "a fright."

She shows you a picture of her fiancé and says he isn't really handsome but ...

She disclaims a talent which she obviously possesses or thinks she does.

She shows you an old snapshot of herself and says: "I don't look much like that now, do I?"

DISAGREE WHEN SHE MENTIONS EMBARRASSMENT

ALWAYS disagree when she apologizes for how badly her child has behaved. She remarks that another woman must be younger than she is. She tells you she is too old for this or that or shows you something she has made or done and tells you it didn't turn out very well. She says, "I may be an old fogey, but ..."

She protests that someone else would be better than she as club president.

She says it is getting late and she really should be going. She says she can't do a thing with her hair, that it looks simply terrible.

Whenever a woman says any of these things, the worst thing you can do is keep silent.

Dinner in a Dish

GREEN BEAN SKILLET DINNER . . . One-dish meal.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE, Associated Press Food Editor

Do you like to save time and energy sometimes by serving your family "dinner in a dish"? Here's our nomination for a main course that teams meat, rice, tomato sauce and canned green beans. It seems to this taster that canned green beans have improved in quality in recent years; we find that fine-quality brands of the vegetable are excellent in flavor, firm, and attractive in color.

And here's a suggestion for a Sunday night supper dish. If you keep a can of green beans and a jar of dried beef on your kitchen shelves you can put this dish together in no time at all and serve it with crisp toast. For dessert bring on a bowl of crisp red apples or firm fresh pears and some wedges of Roquefort cheese and you'll have a fine ending for your supper.

GREEN BEAN SKILLET DINNER

Ingredients: 1 pound ground beef, ½ cup evaporated milk, ½ cup fresh bread crumbs, ¼ cup finely chopped onion, 1½ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons fat, 1 one-pound can green beans, 1 can condensed tomato soup, 2 teaspoons vinegar, 2 cups hot cooked rice.

Method: To ground beef, add evaporated milk, bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons onion, 1 teaspoon salt and ½ teaspoon pepper. Shape into a round or oval patty. Melt fat in skillet; add meat and brown on both sides. While meat is browning, drain beans. Add remaining 2 tablespoons onion to liquid and boil rapidly until liquid is reduced to ¼ cup. Add to meat with soup, vinegar, ½ teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper; cover and cook 20 minutes. Add beans; heat to serving temperature. Spoon hot cooked rice around edge of skillet; serve from skillet. Makes 4 servings.

The Inauguration Brought To You by NEA Telephoto

FAMILY FUN—On the eve of the inauguration, the male members of the Eisenhower family attend a luncheon in Washington in celebration of the birthday of the General's brother, Edgar. When photographers asked, "Which is Edgar," he raised his hand, right, while his brothers Milton, left, and Dwight enjoyed the fun.

HAIL AND FAREWELL—President Harry S. Truman shakes hands with his successor, Dwight D. Eisenhower, as Eisenhower arrives at the White House to drive down to the Capitol for the inauguration ceremonies.

HAIL TO THE CHIEF—President Dwight Eisenhower, standing in the front car, arrow, and Vice President Richard Nixon, in second car, wave to cheering crowds as the motorcade rolls down Pennsylvania Avenue, enroute to the White House. At bottom is the color guard and at the top are the Korean War veterans, forming Eisenhower's honor guard.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES—Symbolizing the re-entry of the Republican Party into the Washington presidential scene, the trio of elephants, led by Miss Burma, right, strut by the Capitol in Washington. The elephants later participated in the inaugural parade as part of the GOP contingent.

LADIES SHARE SPOTLIGHT—Mrs. Harry Truman, waving, and Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower sit in the rear seat of their car before leaving for the inauguration ceremonies at the Capitol. Margaret Truman, right, sits in the front seat with two unidentified men.

WASHINGTON WELCOME—Making one of his final appearances as President-elect, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower and his wife wave to the crowd which greets their arrival in Washington for the inauguration. The Eisenhowers received a warm welcome from the people of their new "home town."

CROWDS ARRIVE EARLY—Anticipating the lack of curb space for the inaugural parade, enterprising James Holechek, left, and Rhon Engy, both of Baltimore, make sure they have a good spot to watch the show. They pitched their tent at midnight along the inaugural route in Washington to be among the several hundred early birds who reserved choice spots for themselves.

Family Footsteps

When a trained nurse is needed in Wilkes-Barre, many people think immediately of Mrs. Carolyn Richards. For years, Mrs. Richards has served her community both in private duty and as a Supervisor at the Wyoming Valley Hospital.

In serving the community, Mrs. Richards' son Owen follows closely in her footsteps. As a Bell Telephone Repairman, he helps keep one of the community's most essential services in good working order. In Owen's record, too, there's a notable entry for service to his country: he saw his share of duty in Pacific waters with the U. S. Navy.

It is people like Owen Richards ... alert, competent people ... who make your telephone service so dependable in emergencies, so useful every day in the year.

ESTIMATED LOSS

Pleasant Township Acting Fire Chief Harold Bryan said this morning that estimated loss which occurred from a fire at the Simones and Cook Garage Monday evening has been placed at $27,000, which covers the building and its contents. Lost in the fire were several trucks and automobiles, the company records, and many bins of small parts which run into considerable money. The loss is partially covered by insurance, he said. Cause of the fire has not yet been determined.

Whipple, superintendent of schools; Gerald Newton, director of instruction and curriculum; Floyd Bathurst and Herbert Harris, principals of the two secondary schools; and Joseph Passaro and Henry Powell, assistant principals, also gave further attention to various phases of the jointure.

Ponder Legalization Of Betting In State

Harrisburg (AP)—The topic of legalization of pari-mutuel betting in Pennsylvania is up for consideration today as the Pennsylvania Association of County Fairs opens its annual two-day convention.

The association is expected to recommend to the 1953 General Assembly that a referendum on the question be conducted next fall.

IN MEMORY

Sacred to the memory of Orrie Goughner, who departed this life one year ago Dec. 27, 1951.

There's an open gate at the end of the road Through which each must go alone. And there is a light we cannot see Our Father claims His own Beyond that gate our loved one Finds happiness and rest And there is a comfort in the thought A loving God knows best.

Sadly missed, fondly remembered by his wife and sister, Rita M. Goughner, Lucile G. Sullivan. Jan. 21-11

Filibuster Ended In Italian Parliament

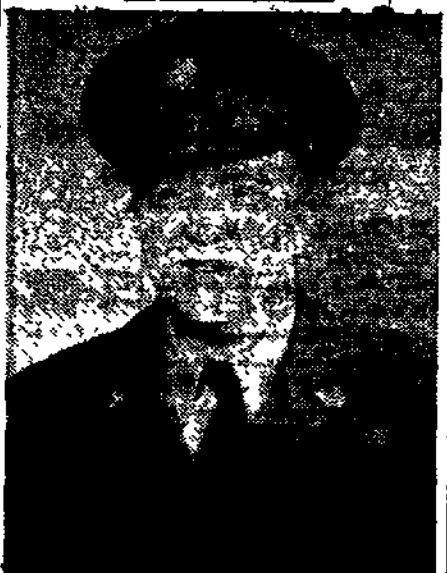

Rome (AP)—The longest filibuster in Italian parliamentary history ended early today with a razor-sharp vote of confidence in Premier Alcide de Gasperi's anti-Communist government and approval of the election change his regime demanded.

Certain of defeat, the Communists and their Socialist allies finally walked out of the parliamentary chamber after seven weeks of debate punctuated by frequent fist-fights in Parliament and strikes outside.

The remaining deputies quickly gave the Premier's Christian Democrat Cabinet a 339-25 vote of confidence.

In College Recital

Dorothy Bohren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bohren of Warren and talented pianist and flutist, was one of two Pennsylvania music majors at Stetson University appearing in Elizabeth Hall for a joint senior recital.

Miss Bohren opened the program with the allegro animato movement of the Italian Concerto by Bach, followed by Bagatelle in A minor, Beethoven; and Humoreske, Opus 10, No. 5, Rachmaninoff. For her second group, she chose a flute selection, the first movement of the Concerto in G major by Mozart. Miss Bohren studied flute with Frederick Wilkins of the Juilliard and Manhattan Schools of Music while attending Chautauqua summer school. After the Brahms Rhapsody in G minor, No. 2, she concluded with the first movement of the piano Concerto in E flat by Liszt, with Knox Williamson at the second piano. A graduate of Warren High, Warren Conservatory, and former pupil of Dr. LeRoy B. Campbell, Miss Bohren is presently a member of the Stetson band and orchestra; Tau Beta Sigma, Phi Beta, and NPSM.

The second artist, Jean Wright, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Elmer Wright, Schellburg, Pa. She sang two contralto groups, with Miss Bohren playing a flute obligato for a Bach aria.

In the capacity audience which enjoyed the recital were Miss Bohren's parents and her brothers, Virgil and John, 15 Dartmouth street; also her uncle, Frank Draegert, Gowanda, N. Y.

SGT. WAYNE WILSON—Word has been received from Washington by Mr. and Mrs. Plummer Wilson of Kelleysville, that their son, Sgt. Wayne P. Wilson has been awarded the Bronze Star medal for "meritorious achievement." While participating in campaigns in Germany "his aggressive leadership greatly aided in successfully assaulting the enemy." Sgt. Wilson was inducted into the U. S. Army in March of 1943, receiving his basic training at Camp Butler, N. C. Following his basic he was stationed at Camp Pickett, Va., with the 78th Division, was later shipped overseas to England and on D Day went to France with the 79th Division. Wayne is one of five sons Mr. and Mrs. Wilson have had in the service, two of which received the Purple Heart for wounds inflicted in Germany.

The year 1912 had an unusually chilly summer because dust from the eruption of Alaska's Mt. Katami partially obscured the sun in the Northern Hemisphere.

Dragons From Out of the Past---

Through The Wind Tunnel

Mrs. Cora Pierce, 20 Prospect street, calls in to tell us the identity of "X. Y. Z.," a 25-year-old contributor to the old Ramblings column in the Morning Mirror. She says it was a Mrs. Teller, who lived at 313 Water street, and that Mr. Teller was a chemist for the Florida Company. Mrs. Pierce does not know their present address, says they moved to New Jersey and that Mrs. Teller came originally from a farm in Iowa.

An interesting note included in yesterday's mass of P data about the inauguration stated that just as Truman and Eisenhower pulled away from the White House facade, two large moving vans arrived at another entrance, carrying the Eisenhower belongings. Wonder if Ike still has a pair of boondockers?

An Akeley resident gives us a call to say she's sure she saw Ed Lowrey over her TV when the operator in Washington was sweeping the crowd with his camera. "There he was, plain as day," she declared, "just entering an aisle in a big block of seats!"

We understand the Painter and Scipano families were also among those present in the capital.

No word has yet been received of confirmation of Senator Hamerbeck as cabi of the cabinet. This may be because of his refusal to give up a block of stock in Lame Lucks, Inc.

Says the Post-Gazette: "GOP Inaugural Train Pulls Out for Washington After 20-Year Delay."

William A. Gould of Brookville, stopped off for dinner in Kittanning and got a parking ticket. So wrote Kittanning police as follows: "Thanks for the ticket and here's your check; 'Now that you're paid you can go to heck. It was my practice between Brookville and Pittsburgh. 'To stop in your town for some lobster newburgh. 'But if I get tickets for not dropping in my nickel. 'I won't again find myself in this pickle. 'In some other town I'll eat my mess. 'And the cost of supper will be $1 less."

The Industrial Management Asso. has put out a very well arranged little folder, listing its officers, member firms, and its programs through May 11. Perhaps the experience of becoming overly optimistic early in football season is keeping some fans from going all out in their enthusiasm over Warren High's basketball team, but some of us have an idea that the team really has something up its sleeve. Good luck on Friday.

One of Warren's foremost young men, and a very popular one at that, is making an important business change.

Dragon Lineup Likely to Face Some Changes

Coach Homer Barr's Warren High grapplers will chance to better their current 1-1 record on the Beatty Junior High mats tomorrow night when they play host to Johnsonburg.

To date the Dragons have defeated Erie East, 24-19, lost a heartbreaker to Titusville, 26-24, and tied Oil City 23-23.

Coach Barr has announced several probable changes in the lineup for Thursday's match. The first three positions will remain the same, with Lou Cummings, Wayne Miller and Bob Smith each working at their respective 95, 103 and 112 pound classes.

However, at 120, the Warren mentor is going to call on Bob Miller to replace Bob Landers. Don Brown will still appear at 127, but Frank Smith has been selected to grapple in the 133-pound division for Laverne Hanson, Glenn Cook and Charles Eaton each stay at 138 and 145.

In the three heavyweight classes, where a good deal of the Dragons' trouble is, Coach Barr is making a shift, moving Walt Pittman from 154 to 185, Steve Olson from 165 to 154, and Don Cummings from 185 to 165.

Joe DiMaggio Will Move Into Baseball Hall o' Fame Today

New York (AP)—Joe DiMaggio is expected to be voted into baseball's Hall of Fame today when the ballots are counted for the 1953 election.

Bill Terry, Dizzy Dean and Al Simmons are other stars of the past who are certain to receive strong support from the 10-year members of the Baseball Writers Association, who do the voting. DiMaggio, who retired after the 1951 World Series, is eligible for the first time after one year's inactivity. Seventy-five per cent of the votes are required for election. There is no accurate figure on the number of votes cast but it is expected to approximate the 234 of last year. Only players, now inactive, but who have been active service in the last 25 years are eligible.

DiMaggio's consecutive game hitting streak of 56 in 1941, an all-time major league record, probably will be more than enough to boost him into the elite company in the Cooperstown, N. Y., Hall of Fame. For 13 active years, from 1936 through 1951, with time out for military service, DiMaggio had a lifetime batting average of .425 with 2,214 hits in 1,736 games.

Bounty on Noxious Birds and Animals Will Be Continued

The Game Commission decided, at its January meeting, to continue paying bounty on noxious birds and animals almost as last year. There was one exception.

In 1953, bounty will not be paid on great horned owls killed during November and December. The sportsman is first interested in keeping wild enemies of game in check, and experience has shown that many hunters shoot these predacious birds, with or without reward, as opportunity presents during the principal open seasons. It is anticipated the revised bounty set-up will result in considerable saving to the Game Fund, without materially lessening the kill of great horned owls.

Bounties for 1953, then, will be: each red or gray fox, 4; each great horned owl, adult or fledgling (except November and December), $5; each weasel, $1.

Kid Gavilan Fights Vic Cardell Tonight

Washington (AP)—Kid Gavilan, the world's welterweight champion, tonight meets a rough but relatively unknown fighter, Vic Cardell of Wilton, Conn., in a 10-round non-title bout. The fight will be televised nationally, and it takes on added interest because it's Gavilan's last showing before he meets the popular Chuck Davay in a championship bout in Chicago Feb. 11.

RESUME WITH U. OF P. Penn States basketball team will be idle until January 31 because of mid-year exams. The Lions resume their schedule against the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Youngsville Defeats E. Forest, Tidioute Wins From Grovers In Allegheny Valley League

Youngsville and Tidioute High passers remained in power in the Upper Allegheny Valley League last night to keep the first place race a hot one. Playing at Sheffield, Youngsville walked away from East Forest in the fourth period 64-39, and Tidioute defeated Sugar Grove at home, 61-40.

Coach Dick Finley's scrappy East Forest five, not to be underestimated this season, gave the Eagles a fight until the last period when they racked up 20 points to the home team's four.

Bud McChesney, Jim Spear and Dallas Haight combined their talents to chalk off 49 of the Karmusmen's points, while Gettig and J. Deible led East Forest with 15 and 11 respectively.

By the half time at Tidioute, Coach Charles Anderson's boys had spread out a 29-15 advantage, and slide home from there. Morrison and Bob Schwab took the laurels for Tidioute with 13 and 11 counts respectively and Keith Sweeney topped the list for the Bauermen with 13. Frank scored 10 points.

Walcott Is Stirred By Christenberry's Chatter at Dinner

Camden, N. J., (AP)—Former heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott, incensed at New York State Athletic Commissioner Robert Christenberry's statement that Walcott would probably never fight again, said yesterday the New York boxing head is "nothing but a bellhop."

Christenberry made his statement Monday night at a Wilmington, Del., sports writers and broadcasters dinner.

The Camden heavyweight, who lost his title last June to Rocky Marciano, said he has every intention of fighting the new champion. But he added that he would do nothing until his manager, Felix Borciocchio, is well again.

Sheffield Wolverines Victors Over Wilcox By Big Margin

The Sheffield Hi Wolverines, led by Dick Wenker's 24 points, rolled by Wilcox, 78-58, in a high scoring Allegheny Mountain League tilt played at Wilcox last night.

Scoring honors, however, went to Wilcox's Pete Yanchovich, who racked up 27 points on eight goals and 11 free throws.

Hitting the hoop consistently Coach Ralph Santo's floormen started with a 16-10 first quarter and continued to add on in the remaining three periods, in which they tallied 20 points or better.

Other big gains on the Orange and Black team were Joe Piehuta, Chuck Newman and Dave Gustafson with 13, 12 and 11 points respectively.

Bradford's Jayvees Win in Preliminary By 15-Point Margin

Warren High's Baby Dragons were set back again last night, when a visiting Bradford Jayvee team found itself treated with an overwhelming 50-35 win in a preliminary on the Beatty hardwood.

After nosing their way into a slim 13-12 first quarter lead Coach Fred Bell's floormen found themselves being outlasted by five or six points in each of the remaining frames. By intermission the young Owls favored 25-21 scoring and were in front 35-26, going into the last period.

Loughlin won the night's scoring laurels for Bradford with 14 points and Bill Griffin topped Warren postmarking by hitting for 12 on six goals.

Landy Is Hoping To Crash Four-Minute Barrier, Saturday

Melbourne, Australia (AP)—John Landy, fastest known miler in the world today, will go out Saturday in a calculated attempt to crash through the four-minute barrier.

Landy, a 22-year-old curly-haired Australian student of agricultural science, ran a mile Dec. 13 in 4 minutes 2.1 seconds. Today he looks like the best prospect for a four-minute performance and, what's more, he believes it is possible for him to do it before very long.

Saturday he'll be running in the Australian Championship Meet at Perth in torrid West Australia.

"It will be a fast mile," Landy said just before he left Melbourne for the West. "I'll be trying hard, but it's a gamble. It will depend on the condition of the track, how I'm feeling that day, and the weather. Most people agree it is very difficult to break a record with the temperature anything over 85."

Verdict of Guilty In Trials of Communists

New York (AP)—A Federal Court jury reached a verdict today in the conspiracy trial of 13 Communist leaders.

Federal Judge Edward J. Dimock received a note to this effect from the jury shortly before noon.

Announcement of the verdict was delayed pending the arrival of the eldest defendant, Jacob Mindel, 71, who was taken ill with a heart ailment last week. His counsel waived his presence in court.

The jurors received the case last Thursday and deliberated a total of 48 hours.

The jury foreman, Miss Lucille Collette, a music teacher, announced the verdict after 48 hours of deliberations in a clear, firm voice:

"We find the defendants guilty as charged."

Claim Negro Killed Two Whites in Jersey

Neptune, N. J. (AP)—Two white women were stabbed to death today and a Negro housing project superintendent was accused of the double murder.

Another Negro, who police said, was visiting the two women, was stabbed four times and is in critical condition.

Dead were Mrs. Anna Genovese, 48, a divorcee, and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Scialano, 70, a widow, who operated a grocery store here.

Quillie Bonner, 27-year-old Negro from Asbury Park, in critical condition in Pitkin Memorial Hospital, told police his assailant was James W. Robinson, 34, Negro superintendent of the Asbury Park Village, a public housing project in Asbury Park.

Money thus raised will be used, Mr. Betts said, to purchase necessary equipment and to defray a part of the leaders' expense to the Jamboree. Equipment to be bought includes tents and cooking utensils primarily. This will all be used at Camp Olmsted upon the return of the Jamboree troop.

Dr. Thompson reported that he will handle arrangements through the Warren County Medical Society to insure that each Scout and Scouter is physically fit to participate.

Other committee members present included John Kirk and Cecil Winans.

Charge Against Fred Heymann Is Reduced

A civil court case against Fred Heymann, of Erie and Warren, being tried in Erie county court, went to the jury at 10 a. m. yesterday, with Heymann's lawyers succeeding in reducing the suit from $163,000 to $74,000.

Attorney Edward Carney, representing Heymann, won a decision from reading judge Walter L. Lyons, after proving there was no conclusive evidence showing that Harold D. Brown had been swindled of $163,000.

In Monday's session, Attorney Gerald McNellis, representing Brown, introduced a surprise witness, who testified that Heymann, while living in Philadelphia, had swindled her of $87,000 in cash, stocks, bonds, a car and a diamond ring. Heymann's attorney admitted that her testimony will probably prove influential with the jury.

According to the report, Brown's suit was originally against both Mr. and Mrs. Heymann, but the court ruled that no evidence had been submitted to show that Mrs. Heymann was implicated in the case. The judge instructed that no decision should be given by jury members against Mrs. Heymann.

Probe Tampering As Station Crash Cause

Washington (AP)—A Pennsylvania Railroad official testified at a Senate inquiry today that the runaway train that hurtled into Union Station here last Thursday had developed trouble with its brakes en route at Kingston, R. I.

Adelbert Schroeder, assistant general counsel of the railroad, said that during a stop at Kingston, the engineer got out and fixed the brake by hand.

Sen. Tobey (R-N.H.) remarked that "someone must have tampered with the air brakes" before the train, the Federal Express, left Boston. He asked Schroeder if that were not correct.

"It seems very plausible," Schroeder replied.

Tobey is chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, which opened public hearings today in an effort to determine the cause of the accident.

Seoul (AP)—Allied Sabre jet pilots shot down seven Communist MIG jet fighters and damaged three others in battles high over Northwest Korea today, the U. S. Fifth Air Force said.

Two U. S. jet aces, Col. Royal N. Baker, McKinney, Tex., and Maj. Robinson Risher, Oklahoma City, each was credited with his eighth MIG destroyed.

U. S. losses, if any, will be announced in a week-end summary.

Today's bag was one of the biggest in several months. U. S. pilots destroyed eight MIGs last Wednesday—the most in one day since September.

INVESTING FOR THE FUTURE

THE LINK between laboratory and daily life is nowhere so close as in the ethical drug industry. The drug's new wonder products have been in the forefront of the past decade's medical advances. And the surface has hardly been scratched; remedies are yet to be found for the common cold, polio, cancer and other dread diseases. As it is, new drugs have helped to lengthen man's life-span; this, in turn, tends to increase the demands of our population for both familiar and new drug products.

An investment in one of the leading Mutual Investment Trust Funds gives the investor an interest in this leading industry as well as in Basic Chemicals and in Electronic Devices... Read tomorrow's advertisement about WHATEVER MOVES.
